THE JEWS OF BARNOW.

Stories by KARL EMIL FRANZOS. Translated by M. W. Macdowall; with a Preface by Barnet Phillips. 16mo, cloth, $1.

"This collection of Jewish stories, the incidents taken from Eastern Galicia, is certainly one of the most valuable contributions made during this century, as far as relates to the peculiar ideas and customs of the Polish and Russian Jews. Written with great dramatic force, the volume has provoked much discussion among the Jews themselves."—New York Times.

"These stories deserve great praise. They are told in a simple, straightforward style, which rises at times, when the situation requires it, to a very high level. . . . The whole book may be strongly recommended to readers who can appreciate a good workman handling a novel subject."—Saturday Review.

"We need hardly add, then, that its widely spread popularity is deserved. Karl Emil Franzos has the dramatic instincts which can imagine striking scenes, placing them in the most artistic lights, and which seize on the salient points of remarkable or eccentric characters, without neglecting the homely realism which forms the background of these spirited sketches."—London Times.

II.

MRS. LORIMER:

A SKETCH IN BLACK AND WHITE.

By LUCAS MALET. 16mo, cloth, $1.

"One of the cleverest first books we have ever read. It has merit, and great merit, as a study of character, of manners, and of emotion; it is fortunate and elegant in style; it abounds in delicate touches of observation and in kindly and searching criticism; it has the quality of completeness; and commands attention, not as a sheaf of brilliant pages or a string of taking scenes, but as a finished work of art."—London Academy.

BIBLIOTHECA THEOLOGICA.

A Select and Classified Bibliography of Theology and General Religious Literature. By JOHN F. HURST, D.D. 1 vol., 8vo, $3.

This book is constructed on an entirely new plan in bibliographical science, there being no work in Great Britain or the United States that is of the same general scope. It is intended for the minister, the theological student, the teacher of advanced Bible-classes in Sunday-schools, and for the general reader of religious works. Hence it avoids books that are out of print, or otherwise inaccessible, and is confined chiefly to those published in the English language in Europe and America.

Great pains have been taken by the author to do full and equal justice to all denominations. The literature which each has produced has been recognized in such way, and with such exactness, that, for the study of our confessional theology and history, the "Bibliotheca Theologica" will furnish all needful help.

II.

A COMPLETE CONCORDANCE TO THE REVISED VERSION OF THE NEW TESTAMENT.

Embracing the Marginal Readings of the English Revisers, as well as those of the American Committee. By JOHN ALEXANDER THOMS. Published under the authorization of Oxford and Cambridge Universities. 1 vol., 8vo, $2.50.

The Revised Version of the New Testament has now obtained so firm a footing with the religious public, that the need of a Concordance to it is too manifest to be questioned, and while other helps may answer for both Versions, the Concordance must be rewritten. The compiler of this thorough and complete work has availed himself of the experience of his predecessors to introduce a few evident improvements in the way of classification, and he has in all cases put the views of the American Committee, as expressed in the marginal readings, on a par with those of the English revisers.

III.

ICE-CREAM AND CAKES.

A New Collection of Standard Fresh and Original Receipts for household and commercial use. By an American. 1 vol., 12mo, $1.50.

This book contains the fruit of many years' experience and experiment, together with a description of the processes followed by the great French and Italian confectioners.

More than a hundred different receipts for Ice-creams, Water-ices, and the various forms of iced dainties are given, with rules for preparing all the various flavorings. The directions are both minute and systematic, and the work will be found to be thoroughly accurate and complete in all points. Any capable housewife, with the resources of a well-equipped kitchen, will be able to follow the directions given, without difficulty, and with certainty of success.

Extreme care has been taken to avoid ambiguity and looseness of statement, the exact amount of an ingredient is always stated, so that the most inexperienced cannot go astray. The various utensils necessary are described, and full advice given as to their use.

Following this section is a collection of receipts for Cake, embracing several hundred different sorts, many of them new and original, and all carefully tested and of prime excellence. The book, as a whole, contains a far greater number of original and choice receipts for ice-cream and cakes than any other in existence. It will be found indispensable wherever choice and dainty cookery is appreciated.

NOTES IN SEASON.

R. WORTHINGTON will publish next week Prof. R. A. Proctor's latest work on "The Great Pyramid: Observatory, Tomb, and Temple."

J. B. LIPPINCOTT & CO. will publish shortly a new novel entitled "The Belle o' Beckett's Lane," by John Beatty; also a work of a devotional character, "The Cross in the Light of To-day," by Rev. W. W. Maclane.

JOHN E. POTTER & CO. will issue early next month the second volume of Prof. James Baldwin's creditable work on "English Literature." This volume will be exclusively devoted to the prose writings of the English authors.

T. B. PETERSON & BROS. have in press a translation of Alphonse Daudet's new novel, "L'Evangeliste," which is said to be founded on fact. It is described as "a romance of the conflicts of human emotions, with a gay as well as a grave side, and of intense interest."

JOHN WILEY & SON have just issued "The Railroad Spiral:" the theory of the compound transition curve reduced to practical formulæ and rules for application in field work, with complete tables of deflections and ordinates for 500 spirals, by Wm. H. Searles; also, the fourth edition of the same author's standard work on "Field Engineering."

D. APPLETON & CO. will issue next week "The Jews of Barnow," a collection of Jewish stories, told in a simple, straightforward style by Karl Emil Franzos, translated by M. W. Macdowall, and with a preface by Barnet Phillips; also "Mrs. Lorimer: a sketch in black and white," by Lucas Malet, of which the London Academy says: "One of the cleverest first books we have ever read."

HENRY HOLT & CO. have just issued in the American Science series Francis A. Walker's comprehensive volume on "Political Economy." The author divides his work into six parts, as follows: (1) character and logical method of political economy; (2) production; (3) exchange; (4) distribution; (5) consumption; (6) some applications of economical principles. Under each of these headings the author discusses the subject as concisely and clearly as possible. The volume is a fine specimen of good book-making.

P. BLAKISTON, SON & CO. have now ready a second edition of "Clinical Lectures on Diseases of the Heart and Aorta," by George William Balfour; also, "Injuries of the Spine and Spinal Cord without Apparent Mechanical Lesion, and Nervous Shock, in their Surgical and Medico-legal Aspects," by Herbert W. Page. The next volume of the Octavo Series of Standard Medical Books, to be issued immediately, will be "Diseases of the Prostate: Their Pathology and Treatment," by Sir Henry Thompson. Next week will be ready a new Quiz-Compend, on Obstetrics.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS publish this week Dr. John F. Hurst's "Bibliotheca Theologica," which will be found fully described in our "Weekly Record," for this week; a Complete Concordance to the Revised Version of the New Testament, embracing the marginal readings of the English Revisers as well as those of the American committee, by John Alexander Thoms; also, a new collection of fresh and original receipts for household and commercial use under the title of "Ice-Cream and Cakes," a volume which gives more than 100 receipts for ice-cream, water-ices, and the various forms of iced dainties, while the receipts for cake embrace several hundred different sorts. On the 20th they will issue in the Campaigns of the Civil War series "The Shenandoah Valley," by George E. Pond; the second volume of the Philosophic series, on "Energy: Efficient and Final Cause," by Dr. James McCosh; and the fourth volume of J. A. Froude's most interesting series of "Short Studies on Great Subjects."

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & CO. will publish next week "Twice-Told Tales" and "Mosses from an Old Manse"—the two first volumes in their new Riverside edition of Hawthorne's works. The volumes are models of book-making, the type, paper, presswork, and binding being as nearly perfect as possible. The binding is extremely plain, yet so tasteful that it cannot fail to please every one who admires the best literature in the most appropriate form. Each of the twelve volumes in this edition will contain introductory notes concerning the motive and circumstances of its composition by Geo. P. Lathrop, Hawthorne's son-in-law, also an original full-page etching and a vignette woodcut by distinguished American artists. The twelfth volume will have in place of an etching, a superb steel engraving of Hawthorne, made expressly for this edition. At the same time with the above will appear a new edition of Dr. Holmes' "Poet at the Breakfast-table," carefully revised and with a new preface; a second series of "Talks on Art" by the eminent artist, the late William M. Hunt, edited by Miss H. M. Knowlton, who collected the former series, which has been received with so great favor both in England and America. They publish this week a new and important contribution to Bacon-Shakespeare literature—an octavo volume entitled "Francis Bacon's Promus of Formularies and Elegancies," comprising certain private notes by Bacon in manuscript compared with passages from Shakespeare. The work has been prepared by Mrs. Henry Pott, of England, and is introduced by Rev. Edwin A. Abbott, D.D., the well-known scholar of London.

The story is French in tone, and the major portion of the action takes place in Paris amid the gayeties of the highest circles of Parisian fashionable society, though there are scenes in the United States and Baden-Baden. The heroine is a remarkably beautiful woman without a heart, and her beauty is singularly fatal to all her admirers, whom she invariably draws into a maze of trouble or actually brings to death; her career is highly romantic.

Hurst, J: F. Bibliotheca theologica: a select and classified bibliography of theology and general religious literature. N.Y., C: Scribner's Sons, 1883. 16+417 p. O. cl., $3.

A valuable bibliographical work designed for the minister of the gospel, the theological student, the teacher of advanced Bible-classes, and the general reader of religious literature, as a guide to the better sources in all departments of theological science. It is divided into five parts—"Introduction," "Exegetical theology," "Historical theology," "Systematic theology" and "Practical theology," which have again numerous subdivisions. The author's purpose has been to do full and equal justice to all denominational and confessional literature. The plan, in giving titles, comprises the full subject as stated by the author; the number of volumes, when more than one constitute the book; the size of the work; the number of pages, both those in Roman as well as in Arabic numerals; and the place, publisher and date of issue. So far as the time of publication is concerned, and the edition, the aim has been to state the first edition of the work and the publisher of the same, and, besides, the last edition, with the possibly changed publisher. In addition to the more prominent bibliographical works used in the preparation of this volume, Mr. Hurst consulted all the chief bibliographical serials, both European and American; the earlier and later catalogues of publishers, and the finding-lists and catalogues of the Congressional and principal public libraries of the United States. Yet, notwithstanding all these helps, he endeavored to examine each work, and reproduce the needful data from a personal inspection.

A series of half-sketches, half-stories of frontier life—Mexican and American—as seen through a soldier's eyes. The Chicago Tribune says: "The author of these frontier glimpses has a keen eye and an unerring hand; but the jaunty pluck of 'Capt. Jinks,' the pathos of him who starts fearlessly and quietly upon his lonely 'jornado del muerto,' the spirited sweetness of 'Joe Biggs' ' 'half-Spanish girl,' the romance of Lieut. Thurston's wrong, and the dry humor of 'A buffalo fight' are not so much sketches as etchings, where every realistic touch is burnt in, true and strong."

TARIFF ON BOOKS.

THE BOOK TRADE ASSOCIATION OF PHILADELPHIA.—ACTION IN REGARD TO THE PROPOSED TARIFF OF THE TARIFF COMMISSION.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 16, 1882.

DEAR SIR: In accordance with a resolution of the Book Trade Association on the 14th inst., I beg to call your attention to the resolutions below, passed by them on that occasion, and to ask that you will use your best endeavors to defeat the tariff bill as proposed by the late Tariff Commission. I am, very respectfully, your obedient servant, ALF. ELLIOT, Secretary.

BOOK TRADE ASSOCIATION.

At a meeting of the Book Trade Association of Philadelphia held at their hall on December 14, 1882, Ex-Vice-President Willis P. Hazard was called to the chair.

Mr. Henry Carey Baird offered the following resolutions, which were unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That we hereby solemnly and earnestly protest against the enactment into law of the following provisions of the proposed Tariff bill of the Tariff Commission: First, those which reduce the duty on books from 25 to 15 per cent, which enable any one who is not a dealer to import books free of any duty whatsoever, while a dealer is obliged to pay the duty, and place all books over ten years old, and all newspapers and periodicals on the free list, because manifestly unjust to American publishers and booksellers, and inexpedient because calculated to be injurious to paper-making, type-founding, stereotyping, electrotyping, engraving of all kinds, printing and binding, and the labor engaged therein, by transferring the manufacture of books for the American market from the United States to Great Britain.

Second, Those which reduce the duties on printing papers from 25 and 20 per cent respectively to 20 and 15 per cent, and place wood pulp for the manufacture of paper on the free list, because not only calculated to be injurious to a great industry, but prejudicial to those dependent thereon for their raw materials, for the reason that through American competition alone this industry now gives to consumers an abundant supply of printing papers at from 25 to 33 per cent cheaper than thirty years ago, a result which could alone be reached from such uninterrupted American competition as comes from a full command of the home market.

Resolved, That we are opposed to the proposed Tariff bill, as a whole, because it is calculated not only to cripple many great and important industries, and displace American by foreign labor, but certain to result in excessive imports of foreign merchandise and exports of the precious metals, and thereby to derange the currency and credit system of the country, and to cause one of those crises which always result in wide-spread financial and business embarrassment.

Resolved, That a committee of seven be appointed by the chairman to request a hearing of this Association by the Committee on Ways and Means, in opposition to the obnoxious provisions of the proposed bill, as above indicated.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions, properly certified, be sent to the Senators and Representatives in Congress from Pennsylvania, with a request that they use their best efforts to defeat the passage of the proposed bill.

The chair appointed as the committee to visit Washington, Messrs. H. C. Baird, R. S. Menamin, A. J. Holman, J. M. Ferguson, Roger Sherman, Charles M. Lea, and F. W. McDowell.

(A true copy from the minutes.)
ALF. ELLIOT, Secretary.

To the Honorable the Committee of Ways and Means:

The undersigned, representing the various branches of book manufacture in Philadelphia, including the representatives of the National Typographical Union, an organization representing considerably over 10,000 voters, would respectfully call your attention to the danger threatening their interests, through the crude and ill-digested Report of the Tariff Commission.

The recommendation to reduce the tariff on books to 15 per cent is unwarranted by the condition of the trade, for even under the existing rate (25 per cent) the importation of foreign books is steadily on the increase, while our printing and binding establishments, paper-mills, etc., are proportionately idle. By the threatened decrease of protection, the very existence of the book trade is threatened, thousands of workmen would be thrown out of employment, while poverty and want would be carried into as many homes.

As if the reduction in tariff were not a sufficient blow at the American book trade, the Commission (p. 69) propose for the principal raw material of a book—sized printing paper—a rate (20 per cent) even higher than that of the finished article, and this is not alone applicable in the case of sized paper, but in leather, book cloths, gold leaf, etc., etc. And by way of a final stroke, the free list (p. 78) includes "books by foreign authors not published in the United States, in single copies for use and not for sale." It is easy to recognize the commendable object aimed at by the provision, but it is wholly objectionable, for two reasons. The first is, that it is impracticable. No revenue department in the world could furnish its custom-houses with a staff of bibliographers competent to determine whether books introduced under this clause had or had not been reprinted in the United States, and the result would unquestionably be that, fatigued by the useless effort to discriminate in the infinite number of cases, involving individually the most trifling amounts, the attempt would be abandoned, and all books in single copies for private importers would be admitted free.

The second reason is, that the provision discriminates fatally against an entire and most useful class of dealers—the importers of books—who could no longer carry on business when their customers would be virtually paid by the government to make these purchases abroad. It might, indeed, raise the constitutional question whether the government has the right to discriminate between citizens—to say to A that if he imports an article of merchandise he shall pay a duty on it, and to B that he may import it free. Should this be decided affirmatively, no bookseller could afford to carry a stock of foreign books, and the interests of literature would suffer, in the long run, from the very measure designed to promote them.

In the existing tariff, whereby books more than twenty years old are placed on the free list, a provision designed to favor the accumulation of libraries in this country, without interfering with our book production, the limit of twenty years was maturely considered when adopted, and the change proposed by the Commission (p. 78) to ten years would produce little good and much evil. The limit is too short for practical purposes; even when honestly taken advantage of, it would interfere seriously with our productive interests, and it would open the door to fraud, which it would largely encourage.

The fact that "periodicals" are specified (p. 69) as subject to 15 per cent duty, and are subsequently (p. 78) placed on the free list, is only an instance of the haste with which the Commission has been obliged to work. They should unquestionably be struck out of the free list. To prevent possible misunderstanding, the words "and electrotype" should be introduced after "stereotype" on page 69, line 30.

But the subject to which it is desirable to draw special attention is the necessity of a change in the existing tariff from an ad valorem to a commensurate specific rate. The Book Trade Association of Philadelphia (Testimony, p. 1501), in a well considered communication to the Commission, set forth the desirability of placing a specific rate on books, in view of the ease with which the duty on these articles can be evaded by under-valuation, and it suggested a very simple tariff on books, viz:

"On all books, periodicals, pamphlets, photograph albums, blank-books, bound or unbound, and all printed matter, engravings, bound or unbound, illustrated books and papers, and maps and charts, twenty (20) cents per pound weight.

"The free list to remain as it now stands.

"On all stereotyped or electrotyped plates and casts of woodcuts a duty of twenty (20) cents per pound weight."

That would be found to work well practically.

A specific rate by weight was the method used by England so long as she levied duties on books, and was adopted in our own Tariff of 1842. It therefore has ample precedent and possesses the advantage that it serves as a protection to our home industries on low-priced books, while it is light on expensive works of art and science, necessary to the student and not likely to be reproduced here. It is difficult to understand that an industry so important to the well-being of the community as that of the manufacture of books, should be struck at by reducing the rate from the existing duty of 25 per cent to 15 per cent (p. 69), a rate so very much below the average of the whole tariff. There is perhaps no other description of merchandise the cost of which consists so largely of human labor; and in its various branches the rate of wages in the country is nearly if not quite double that of England (see Testimony, p. 595). Yet in the case of books which sell largely, there is no community which obtains its literature under the existing tariff so cheaply as ours; while a reduction in the rate would render us dependent on the foreign producer for a large class of books of even limited sale, the production of which in this country is important to the public. It does not follow that these would be lowered in price to the consumer, but rather the contrary, for the American publisher would be deterred from the risk of undertaking them by the knowledge that, if they were successful, he could be undersold by his foreign competitor, who would then command our markets at his own price.

Trusting most sincerely that your committee will adopt the suggestions above urged in revising the Tariff as suggested by the Commission, and by so doing relieve an extensive branch of industry from threatened destruction, we remain, Very respectfully,

THE DUTY ON BOOKS.

From the N. Y. Evening Post.

ALL except the Philadelphia publishers are agreed that the "tax on knowledge" should be abolished, and no voice carrying conviction has yet been raised for its retention even by the importers of foreign books, who will certainly be materially damaged by the depreciation of stock on hand. The Tariff Commission, however, have not seen fit to place books on the free list, not even books in foreign languages which, with few exceptions, never were, are not, and never will be manufactured in this country, and therefore cannot claim "protection," unless, indeed, your friend the "pirate" and his "Deutsche Library," so-called with exceeding good taste, require "protection." This action on the part of the Commission is the more surprising as the late Mr. McMahon, for one, often expressed himself forcibly for making books free. The reduction from twenty-five to fifteen per cent can satisfy nobody; it will not even save the delay and vexation of Custom-house examination and the triplicate invoices, which are a further tax in the shape of of the most unnecessary, tedious, and expensive labor for invoices of some ten to twenty pages of several hundred items.

But one clause in the Commission's draft, as reported in the newspapers, calls for comment —that which makes single copies coming by mail and not intended for sale exempt from duty. This is certainly discriminative legislation. If the dealer imports two copies—nay, even one—of any book, he will have to pay fifteen per cent duty thereon, while his neighbor can have the same book sent to him by mail duty free. The dealer may, of course, import likewise by mail, but, being known as a dealer, his copy will be stopped at the Post-office and assessed some fancy duty, as no examiner can be expected to know the price of every book published within the last ten years. This would certainly be "protection" of a new kind, protecting the foreign bookseller only, with whom American bookbuyers will keep their accounts hereafter exclusively, as they do already to a great extent. If it is necessary to stop the mail importation of books, to the detriment of the revenue, expressly stipulated for by an international treaty, then there can be no duty on books at all, as everybody, dealer and private buyer alike, can claim the benefit of this provision, and no legislative body has a right to make a law which subjects an article to duty for one party and makes it free for another. The Commission's draft of a tariff bill, therefore, would seem to be the best argument in favor of free books yet put forward.

The importers of foreign books in this country have lost, to say the least, one half of their business, and the United States Treasury a corresponding amount of revenue, through direct mail importations from foreign agents, for which losses the "protective" tariff is responsible, contradictory as it may seem. Large buyers have for years had their foreign books mailed to them "in sections," as Lord Dundreary would have said, if too large for single packages, thus saving not only the duty, but the commission also which the importer here is forced to charge where inflated values through a "protective tariff" require nearly double the amount for clerk-hire, rent, and general expenses compared with what dealers in France, England, Germany, and other "unprotected" countries have to pay. The larger college and public libraries already enjoying, under the present tariff, the privilege of free-of-duty importations of books, have mostly foreign agents to whom their orders go, who can, of course, fill them at a smaller commission than a New York house, as they do not suffer from the benefits of protection.

If the Commission's report, now before the Committee of Ways and Means, becomes a law in its present shape, the foreign book-importers here will enjoy the doubly-enviable position of being generally "protected" by the working of the tariff as a whole, and especially so by being excepted from the public at large in a way which makes it both their duty and privilege to contribute toward the expenses of the national government and the paying off of the national debt by paying duty on an article which everybody else is entitled to import duty free.

The delays caused by Custom-house examinations and the hardships it inflicts cannot be better illustrated than by the following experience: The "Almanach de Gotha" is imported in quantities by every German house in New York, and "first come, first served"—that is to say, who has copies first sells the most to the trade in New York, Washington, and elsewhere. This year's issue came by the steamer Werra, December 23. A has four cases on board, one of which is ordered for examination, precisely the one which contains the eagerly-expected book. B has two cases; one goes to the Public Store for examination; the other one, containing the 'Almanach' he can have immediately upon the steamer's beginning to discharge. A has to wait a week or ten days, and is so much behind B in supplying the same book. He not only loses the sale of this one book, with all the duty paid on it, but is generally set down as a slow-coach, and orders for other books are given to his competitor, who may have fewer facilities and be generally less efficient, but whom the unconscious wisdom of the "protective tariff" advertises as the best among his peers.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

The New York Medical Journal, which has heretofore been published as a monthly (D. Appleton & Co.), will hereafter be published weekly on every Saturday. The form has been changed to a handy quarto, (11¼x8¼ inches), and is set in good-sized type, leaded, in double columns. The subscription price is $5.

The Medical Record, published by W. Wood & Co., has been increased in size to 12½x8½. The columns have been made wider and the pages considerably longer. This peculiarity of the length of the page, it is claimed by the publishers, possesses a "decided advantage in convenience of handling over the more square or quarto shape." Larger type is used, which adds greatly to the comfort and pleasure of reading. The subscription price remains the same.

Life is the title of a new weekly comic paper issued at 1155 Broadway by John Ames Mitchell and Edward S. Martin. It is to be run and contributed to by the young Harvard men who have distinguished themselves of late in the lightest literature, among them E. S. Martin, who wrote "Sly Ballades in Harvard China;" Robert Grant, author of the "Frivolous Girl;" Attwood, who wrote "Manners and Customs of ye Harvard Student;" and Wheelwright, author of "Rollo's Journey to Cambridge." Mr. Mitchell, who wrote the "Summer School of Philosophy at Mount Desert," is to be one of the leading editors.

The Critic, the New York literary fortnightly, is to be published hereafter every week. This would seem to be an indication, not only of its success, but of the determination of its editors to satisfy the popular demand for criticism which shall be timely as well as just and intelligent. As the only literary weekly in America, it is fair to presume that it will present the literary news of the day more promptly and with greater fulness than it has ever before been given. Indeed, the editors announce their intention of making it a newspaper in every sense of the word, though without changing its character in other respects, or lowering its tone as a critical review. The first number for the new year (No. 53) contains—apart from its purely literary features—a portrait of Walt Whitman, printed on a separate sheet of paper, over a facsimile of the poet's signature, written for the occasion, and attached to an extract from his "Leaves of Grass."

BUSINESS NOTES.

BOSTON, MASS.—S. E. Cassino has taken into partnership Bradlee Whidden and will hereafter carry on his business under the style of S. E. Cassino & Co.

NEW YORK CITY.—Theo. L. De Vinne & Co. will hereafter be the name of the firm which, as Francis Hart & Co., has won such deserved fame as the printers of The Century and St. Nicholas magazines. Mr. Hart, the founder, died soon after the work of printing these magazines was undertaken, and it is to Mr. De Vinne—who has since been the head of the house in fact, as he is now in name—that the notable improvements in woodcut printing made by this establishment are due. Mr. De Vinne is the author of "The Invention of Printing" and other technical works. Readers of The Century will remember the two papers he wrote for that magazine a few years ago on "The Growth of Woodcut Printing."

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

JAMES POTT has now ready "The Church Almanac," for 1883, edited by Dr. W. G. Farrington.

E. L. KELLOGG & CO. have just published the fourth edition of "School Management," by Prof. A. M. Kellogg; also No. 2 of "Reception Day."

GEORGE CUMMING announces that the price of "Berly's British, American, and Continental Electrical Directory," is $2.50, not $2, as stated in our last issue.

G. W. CARLETON & CO. have recently issued a volume of clever domestic sketches by Edward T. Ely under the extraordinary title, "Cats, Cooks, and Cartwheels."

MACMILLAN & CO. have recently published Prof. Ernst Windisch's "Concise Irish Grammar," translated from the German by Dr. Norman Moore, a work which is sure to be valued by scholars the world over.

THE seventh edition of Liddell and Scott's "Greek-English Lexicon" is to be published by Harper & Brothers early next month. The size of the page has been considerably increased —half an inch in width and about an inch and a quarter in length.

D. LOTHROP & CO. will issue at once an interesting volume entitled "The Leading Men of Japan," by Charles Lanman, of Washington, D. C. They have also made arrangements with the English publishers to publish George MacDonald's new volume of essays entitled "Oats."

J. B. LIPPINCOTT & CO. will add to their series of Foreign Classics for English Readers a new book on Rousseau by Henry Gray Graham; and in a new set of volumes, to be called the Philosophical Classics, they will issue, as the initial number, a work by Dr. John Veitch on Hamilton.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & CO. have arranged with Mrs. De Long for the publication of "The Voyage of the Jeannette," including the Ship and Ice Journals of Lieut. De Long, which were brought home by Engineer Melville. This promises to be one of the most deeply interesting of books of travel, adventure, and exploration.

CLEMENS & CO., Cleveland, O., have published a sketch of the prominent abolitionist, Joshua R. Giddings, with a résumé of slavery in America, by Walter Buell; also, a volume entitled "Famous Funny Fellows," comprising brief biographical sketches of American humorists, by Will M. Clemens, illustrated with portraits of Mark Twain, M. Quad, Bob Burdette, Major Jones and Max Adeler.

WEMPLE & CO., N. Y., have published for children a neat text-book by Estelle McNaughton, entitled "From Washington to Arthur." It contains full-page portraits of the Presidents, each surrounded by emblematic decorations and pictures illustrative of scenes in its subject's career. Beneath each portrait is a verse giving the names of the President and his first officer, with now and then a comment on the Administration.

VICK'S "Floral Guide for 1883" comes to us this year in even a more beautiful dress than usual. With its handsome lithographic cover, its numerous illustrations, its three brilliantly colored plates of flowers and vegetables, and its excellent printing and fine paper, it is really an adornment to the centre-table, or a handsome offering to any one fond of flowers or gardening. As its name indicates it is a guide to the proper treatment and culture of all kinds of flowers and vegetables, each description being accompanied by an illustration of the particular plant or vegetable referred to. We should advise all who are interested in gardening, whether for the pleasure obtained from raising flowers, or for the more practical occupation of raising vegetables, to send for a copy of this most instructive work.

FUNK & WAGNALLS are the recipients of the following letter, which does great credit to their liberality, and of which they may justly feel proud: "Dear Sirs—I thank you most heartily for the three hundred pounds ($1500) you have just remitted as royalty on my 'Treasury of David' in America. I right gratefully acknowledge this. You have acted toward me in a highly honorable and satisfactory manner, and I have great pleasure in having your house to publish my works. Fair dealing, where there is no law to compel it, is not so common that it becomes a matter of course. Long may you prosper, and find it to be all the sweeter to prosper because you deal generously with authors. I am now forty-nine, and cannot expect as many more years of authorship as I have had. Yours most heartily, C. H. Spurgeon." The letter is dated London, Dec. 11, 1882.

"LATE," says the London Academy—"almost too late—but by no means last in merit, are the Christmas cards issued by Messrs. L. Prang & Co., of Boston, U. S. Messrs. Prang were, we believe, the inventors of the practice of prize competitions; they have certainly been more successful in the results than some of their imitators in this country. We cannot approve the joint verdict of artist judges and popular votes which agreed to give a reward of no less than £400 to a design by Miss Dora Wheeler. We regard this as both unsatisfactory in composition and as failing in the primary conditions of the special branch of art. Though somewhat injured by its too dark border, the design of Mr. Frederic Dielman (which won the third popular prize) commends itself to us most. But almost all are very good, and are reproduced with a sumptuousness of silken fringe, etc., that cannot be surpassed. We admire in especial the softness of color, which has evidently been inspired by the softness of American wood-engraving. It is not beneath notice that these cards are put up in most acceptable envelopes. We must add, the price of a single card runs up to six shillings."

MOSES KING announces that "The Concord Lectures on Philosophy" will be issued in a short time. In way of coöperation of the faculty and lecturers of the Concord School of Philosophy, the book will have the benefit of all that could be desired. Every lecturer has revised the abstracts of his own lectures, and the statements of doctrine and argument are made briefly and clearly, so that the reader can grasp readily, without reading the full lectures, the peculiarities of any lecturer or of the school which he represents. One lecture will be printed in full,—that of Professor Garman, of Amherst College, who is President Seelye's assistant in the department of mental and moral philosophy. This is a concise review of the reasoning by which Dr. L. P. Hickok meets the materialistic agnostics on their own ground, and has been approved by that veteran metaphysician. A special feature is made of the Emerson commemoration; abstracts of all the papers and addresses will be given. All the poems read at the school—including Mr. Alcott's monody on Mr. Emerson, entitled "Ion," and Mr. Sanborn's opening poem—will be published in full. The volume will also contain a brief historical sketch of the school, with complete programmes of the first three years of its existence. As foot-notes to the name of every lecturer will be given brief biographical notices, in which the chief facts of the life and the writings of each one will be mentioned. The volume will contain nearly 200 pages, royal octavo. It will be printed from large-faced new type, on fine quality of calendered paper. It will be bound in two styles, cloth and paper. The price per copy, will be $1.75 for cloth and $1.25 for paper binding. A limited edition of only one thousand copies will be printed. No plates are made, and the type is distributed as soon as the forms are printed.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS announce as in preparation for publication during the new year the second volume of Col. Williams' "History of the Negro Race in America," which will complete the work; this volume covers the period from 1800 to 1880, including the whole of the Anti-slavery struggle and the years of the war, of emancipation, and of reconstruction. They have also in preparation the second and concluding part of "The American Citizen's Manual" (forming the fifth volume of the Questions of the Day series), by Worthington C. Ford, which will take into consideration the functions of government considered with special reference to taxation and expenditure, the regulation of commerce and industry, provisions for the poor and insane, the management of public lands, etc. Volume VIII. in this series will comprise an essay by Roger Foster, of the New York bar, on "The Taxation of Elevated Railroads in the City of New York." They have under way "The American Girl's Home-book of Work and Play," by Helen Campbell, giving suggestions and instructions for amusements and for occupations for play or for profit. A work which will be the result of a very large amount of thorough and extended investigation is "The Woman Question in Europe," a series of essays by representative European women on the status and progress of woman's work in connection with the suffrage, education, medicine, and industrial pursuits. The book will not in any way be argumentative, but will present a very curious and valuable compendium of facts, statistics, methods, and pictures of life. The work will be edited by Theodore Stanton. Besides these they announce "The History of the Jesuits," from the Foundation of the Order to the present time, translated from the German of Theodore Griesinger; "The Golden Chersonese," by Isabella Bird, author of "Unbeaten Tracks in Japan," etc.; and "Shaftesbury and Hutcheson," forming Volume V. of the series of English Philosophers.

KEELY & CO., London, have undertaken the publication in six or seven volumes of Professor Mahaffy's translation of Victor Drury's "History of Rome." This is acknowledged to be one of the most learned and valuable investigations of Roman history, a treasure-house of accurate knowledge of all that relates to the subject.

THE latest volume from the pen of A. K. H. B., the author of "The Recreations of a Country Parson," comprises thirteen of his sermons, which he entitles "Toward the Sunset: Teachings after Thirty Years." The Longmans have been his publishers heretofore, but the present volume has the imprint of William Isbister, Mr. Strahan's successor in London.

C. KEGAN PAUL, TRENCH & CO., London, have published a volume, entitled "Living English Poets—1882," which comprises representative pieces from all the English verse writers, who may be accepted as poets in the higher sense of the word. The selections begin with Sir Henry Taylor and close with A. Mary F. Robinson. Sir Henry was born in 1800 and Miss Robinson in 1856.

HODDER & STOUGHTON, London, have recently issued "A History of the Jews in Rome, B.C. 160–A.D. 604," by E. H. Hudson. The sketch begins with the first treaty made between the Romans and the Jews, and is carried up to the barbaric period, out of which, a little later on, the modern nations emerged under the influence and impelled by the increasing power of the Church of Rome.

MR. RICHARD HEATH, who is well known to American readers as the author of an interesting book on Edgar Quinet, has just published, through the London Religious Tract Society, an interesting volume on "Historic Landmarks in the Christian Centuries." The work gives a descriptive conspectus of what was going on contemporaneously during each of the centuries since Christianity has been introduced. It is described as an admirable work for the young historical student, and one that is far from being the mere skeleton that such works usually are.

POST-PRANDIAL TRADE,

As we may call the doings for the period immediately after the feasting of the holidays, needs a little stimulant—just a very little—simply enough to carry it beyond the dead point, and set it a-going again.

The best thing to set trade a-going when the wheels move slowly is exactly that which makes it hum when things are lively. Now, we have had the good fortune, so these folks will have it, to help quite an army of enterprising tradespeople to a higher round on fortune's ladder. Possibly you are among them. Hope so. You'll climb higher. Possibly you are an "outsider." Well, don't be lugubrious. Don't howl. Learn wisdom. Leave the fortune-hunters; join the fortune-getters.

In other words, start your New Year's trade with a full line of our Bibles. And isn't the line full! There are Family, Reference, Pulpit, and Teachers' Bibles; Protestant Bibles and Catholic Bibles; English Bibles, German Bibles, and Spanish Bibles, and of these over ONE HUNDRED different styles.

II. MOSSES FROM AN OLD MANSE.

THE POET AT THE BREAKFAST-TABLE.

By OLIVER WENDELL HOLMES. Carefully revised, and containing a new Preface and Notes. 1 vol., crown 8vo, gilt top, $2.

The new edition of the "Autocrat" has been welcomed with enthusiastic heartiness. The "Poet" will doubtless receive a similar welcome, since it is of the same delightfully wise and witty character, and—like the "Autocrat"—has been carefully revised and made additionally attractive by a new Preface.

TALKS ON ART. Second Series.

By WILLIAM M. HUNT. 8vo, $1.

Miss H. M. Knowlton, who collected the previous volume of Mr. Hunt's "Talks on Art," nd who was one of his most valued pupils, has gathered another similar book of Mr. Hunt's original epigrammatic utterances. It is a supplement to the first book, which the Pall Mall Gazette pronounced "singularly racy and suggestive;" and the London Spectator said: "It abounds in vitality and love of art, in keen and delicate discrimination, and, chief of all, complete kindliness."

FRANCIS BACON'S PROMUS OF FORMULARIES AND ELEGANCIES.

(Being Private Notes in MS. circa 1594, hitherto unpublished.) Illustrated by Passages from Shakespeare. By Mrs. HENRY POTT. With a Preface by the Rev. EDWIN A. ABBOTT, D.D. 1 vol., 8vo, $5.

A work which will have peculiar interest for all admirers of Bacon and of Shakespeare, and for all who have read the argument to prove that Bacon wrote the plays which bear Shakespeare's name.
